A. READING SECTION

Read the following extract and then answer the following questions:-

AYAAN AND HIS CANES

Ayaan was feeling scared. It was his first day of school and while he liked meeting new friends, he was also worried how they would react to him. Would they stare? Would they laugh and make fun of his shoes? What would the teachers be like? The questions buzzed around in his mind, increasing his anxiety.

Ayaan was just like any other eight year old boy. Except that he needed to wear different kind of shoes and take the help of canes to walk. He had got these, when he was five years old and was used to them by now but he knew those made him look different from the other kids.

"What are these?" Ayaan turned to see a boy pointing at his canes. He had just entered the school and hoped that no one would notice him in the rush of kids entering the gate. Alas! No such luck.

"These are walking canes. They help me walk." Ayaan waited to see how the boy would react. "Cool. They look smart. I am Rudra. Shall we walk together?" Ayaan felt a smile spreading across his face. He started walking with Rudra and suddenly didn't feel conscious that everyone was looking at him.

A little distance away, two boys approached them. "Hey look! The new boy looks so funny. What are these shoes? I have never seen them before." They started pointing at Ayaan and laughing. Soon, they were joined by some other kids who also started making fun. Ayaan wished he was invisible. This is just he had been scared of. Suddenly, he felt a hand on his arm. It was Rudra. "Ignore them. They are just jealous because everyone is looking at you." Ayaan spoke to them, "I had an accident when I was five and couldn't walk. These shoes and canes have been specially made to help me walk. I can do almost everything except run. Look." Ayaan took a ball, lifted his right foot and kicked it. The ball went flying across the ground. The kids gasped in awe and started smiling. They walked into the class together. The teacher stood up addressed the class, "Children, we have a new boy joining us today. I hope you shall be kind to him. "The children clapped and one of the boys said, "Ma'am, he kicks a ball so well. We are looking forward to playing with him."

The teacher smiled. It seemed that some differences didn't need to matter.
